SUNDOWN FLAMINGO RANGE

"Sundown Flamingo was created during the COVID 19 Pandemic in Spring 2020 - I have always been inspired by sunset tones and the way trees and plants form moody shadows that cast across the floor as the evening draws in. This simple pleasure became more apparent as I spent so much time at home and was something I appreciated more than ever. Sundown is a time to me, in which everything appears so calm, there is no sound and little movement. I wanted to contrast this simple concept with one of my favourite birds, the Flamingo. Not only does the flamingo represent the vibrant clashes of orange, pink and red of a sunset but also an extremely social bird. I felt illustrating this beautiful bird alone expresses the isolation felt in this time, but also the calmness and appreciation of the natural beauty around us."

MOOSE MOUNTAIN RANGE

Moose Mountain has been inspired by mental health, feeling like the pressure of the world is on your shoulders & struggling to see the wood for the trees in every day life. I have always adored Moose and their characterful faces. So, I only imagine when a moose struggles with anxiety that they have a head full of branches. I have combined this artwork with what I like to think of as my 'calm place'.
